

Chautauqua Here Again Next Year

The announcement that the Redpath Chautauqua will be here again next year will be glad news to the lovers of high class wholesome entertainment. While the program offered this year was not thought by many to be up to the usual standard, taken as a whole the entertainments were very instructive and highly enjoyed by the large crowds in attendance. Over 600 tickets were signed up for the next year and the local committee guaranteed the Redpath people the customary 700. The Chautauqua is considered the highest class of entertainment that comes to Mt. Sterling during the year and the low cost of the tickets make it possible for many to see a class of entertainment that would otherwise be impossible.

"The Man From Home" on Friday night was especially well presented, and on the closing night Ralph Bingham appeared at his best, keeping the large audience in an uproar throughout the entire performance.

Wreck on the C. & O.

At Tygart, near Olive Hill, Saturday afternoon, train No. 23, due in this city at 4:35, collided with a car loaded with ballast which quarry people permitted to run out on the main line. Engineer H. S. Meadows, of Lexington, was badly cut and bruised and the front end of the engine was badly damaged. The train was delayed 4 hours, passing through this city about 8:30 P. M. When the accident occurred the passenger train was running at a high rate of speed and it is said to be miraculous that the wreck did not prove to be disastrous.

New Collecting Agency

The Mt. Sterling Collecting Agency, a new enterprise composed of James Pinney, Thomas D. Grubbs and Ben Turner, Jr., opened for business in this city yesterday morning. These are all excellent young business men and deserve the hearty support and co-operation of our people. They have a splendid field here for their work and promise to go after all accounts in a courteous but business-like manner.

Struck by Lightning

During the electrical storm which visited this section Saturday, the handsome country home of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Owings, on the Owingsville pike, was struck by lightning. The chimney on the south side of the house and considerable of the roofing was torn up. The damage is estimated at several hundred dollars.

Automobile Accident

A roadster driven by Allie Cline Peed and a touring car driven by John William, both of this county, collided late Saturday afternoon at the corner of High and Sycamore streets, and owing to the fact that both cars were going at a moderate rate of speed a more serious accident was averted. Mrs. Luther Mason, who was riding in the William car, was the only one injured and she is suffering from a fracture of the small bone in the leg and a severely wrenched back. Mrs. Mason was taken to the Mary Chiles hospital immediately after the accident and is resting as comfortably as can be expected. Both the William car and the Peed car were badly damaged.

NOTICE, TAXPAYERS

In order to keep down expenses I am undertaking to assess all property that I can without extra help.

At present I will be in my office every afternoon and will spend the morning canvassing.

Office will be open all day as required by law, and will be in charge of my wife.

Help me make this assessment by giving your list promptly when I call or better still, come to the office during the afternoon.

I realize fully that taxes have grown to be a burden to most of us, and I wish it was in my power to lower same, but as you know I must be guided in performing my duties by the Kentucky Statutes and the orders from the State Tax Commission.

Thanking you for the consideration which I feel you will extend me in the matter.

Respectfully,
HARRY F. HOWELL,
County Tax Commissioner

Dr. Yeaman Injured

Dr. M. V. P. Yeaman, pastor of the Presbyterian church, of this city, was the victim of an accident at his home here several days ago. In raising a window the weights in the sash became loosened in some manner and the window fell on Dr. Yeaman's hand, badly mashing it and breaking several bones. The services of two physicians were required and Dr. Yeaman has been suffering intensely on account of the injury. He is reported as improved today.

PROGRESSING

The architect is working on plans and specifications for the thirteen Sunday school rooms to be added to the Methodist church building. We understand the church building committee will be ready to contract as soon as the plans and specifications have been accepted.

YOU'LL HAVE TO HURRY TO GET IN ON 200,000 OFFER—TWO DAYS LEFT

Big Vote Offer Closes Next Thursday Evening, July 14th, at 6 P. M. Candidates Should Do their Best to Gather in a Harvest of Votes This Week.

But two days remain of the big 200,000 vote offer and all contestants are urged to put forth their very best efforts and send in all subscriptions possible before the closing hour next Thursday night, as this is the last chance you will have to take advantage of this mammoth vote inducement.

Friends of candidates who have been intending to help their favorite before the close of the campaign should send in their subscriptions before 6 P. M. Thursday, while it will bring the contestant the most votes. Read the big vote offer below and remember, if you fail to take full advantage of this big vote offer you are jeopardizing your chances of winning a big prize at the close.

200,000 Votes Free

200,000 Extra Votes in addition to the regular number, will be given on each and every "Club of $15" worth of "new" subscriptions turned in for or by a contestant before 6 P. M., next Thursday night, July 14th.

Each contestant may secure as many clubs as she can and on each club 200,000 extra votes will be given free.

Subscriptions sent by mail will be accepted and counted under this offer if the envelope containing same is postmarked not later than 6 o'clock next Thursday night, July 14th.

To further give contestants living a distance from the office an equal chance to take advantage of this offer, we make the following ruling:

Send in all subscriptions you have on hand on the last mail leaving your postoffice or rural route on Thursday. Then if you get more subscriptions after that time and before 6 P. M., Thursday, telephone the campaign manager and give him the names of the subscribers and the amounts of subscriptions and he will allow you to apply them on this offer.

All new subscriptions for any term from one to ten years, will be applied on this offer if sent as directed. Try and get several big subscriptions, but don't overlook any subscriptions, whether it may be just a year or several years.

Extra Votes due on this club vote offer will be mailed the candidates next Saturday or Monday, as soon as they can be checked up after the offer.

In addition to this big vote offer, twenty prize ballots—the first for 1,000,000 Extra Votes, the second for 950,000 Extra Votes and so on down will be awarded to the twenty candidates who secure the greatest amount of both old and new subscriptions during the period closing 6 P. M., July 14th.

Both old and new subscriptions count on this prize ballot offer and in addition, your new subscriptions also count toward the club vote offer.

The same rules regarding subscriptions sent by mail as are given for the club vote offer apply on the prize ballot offer.

170,400 votes given on a 10-year new subscription. Half as many on a ten-year old subscription.

Subscriptions changed from one member of a family to another are not considered new subscriptions, and votes will be issued as on an old subscription.

If there is any mistake in the count of any contestant's votes up to the present date, it must be called to the attention of the campaign manager before 10 A. M., Thursday. Otherwise the standings as published today must be accepted as correct.

129,800 votes for an 8-year new subscription—half as many for an 8-year old subscription.

After Thursday the big club vote offer will take a most decided drop and will continue to get lower until the campaign nears the end.

76,800 votes for a 5-year new subscription—half as many votes for a 5-year old subscription.

Votes at the rate of 400 votes on each dollar are given free on printing orders at the time payment is made. No votes given on advertising.

Remember—6 o'clock next Thursday night, July 14th, is the closing hour of the big second period vote offer. The winners of the prize ballots will be made known on the last day of the campaign when the ballots will be given to the contestants in time to deposit in the ballot box for the final count.

Following is the regular schedule of votes but for a limited time three times this number will be given on both old and new subscriptions.

Schedule of Votes

	Old	New
10 years	$15.00	28,400
8 years	12.00	21,600
5 years	7.50	12,800
4 years	6.00	9,600
3 years	4.50	7,200
2 years	3.00	4,400
1 year	1.50	1,800

Address all votes, nominations, subscriptions and communications to the Campaign Manager, care The Advocate, Mt. Sterling, Ky.

Chamber of Commerce To Boost County Fair

The Chamber of Commerce will be represented by a number of its leading members tomorrow in a trip to Owingsville, Wyoming, Grauge City, Hillshoro, Poplar Plains, Flemingsburg, Tilton, Concord, Sherburne, Bethel, Moorefield and Sharpsburg, boosting the Greater Montgomery County Fair, which will open its gates to the public next Wednesday July 20th. Dinner will be taken at Flemingsburg. The party will travel in private automobiles and will leave this city tomorrow morning at 8:30, returning at 6:00 in the evening. A large delegation will make the trip and it is hoped they will meet with a hearty welcome in boosting Montgomery County's stellar attraction. Those intending to make the trip are urged to please be on time as the trip will be made promptly on schedule time.

Contract for Surface Treating Paris Pike

The State Highway Department will let a contract July 28th for surface treating the Paris pike from North Middletown to the Maysville pike. This thoroughfare has been put in most excellent condition by the county and will shortly be taken over by the state and the county relieved of all future maintenance.

TRADE!

We will take in trade corn and oats for salt, flour and coal. Phone 2, Mt. Sterling Commission & Storage Co., S. P. Greenwade, Prop.

Candidates Qualify

All candidates previously announced for city and county offices have legally qualified at the county Clerk's office, and as the time for entering the various races has elapsed all tickets are made up. The only last minute qualifications were those of Albert Botts, John Carpenter and H. T. Kirk for the office of constable in the Third district, composed of Grassy Lick, Beans and Levee.

In this city and county there will be no Republican ticket, and the Democratic candidates follow: For Senator—Henry S. Caywood; for Representative—S. B. Lane; for Circuit Judge—H. R. Prewitt; for Commonwealth's Attorney—W. C. Hamilton; for Circuit Court Clerk—Miss Anise Hunt; for County Judge—E. W. Senff; for County Attorney—W. A. Samuels, Henry Watson; for County Commissioners—R. G. Kern, A. S. Hart, Dan Welsh; for Sheriff—Sidney J. Calk, Chas. E. Duff; for County Clerk—Lindsay Douglas, W. H. Wright; for Tax Commissioner—T. M. Greene, R. M. Montjoy, L. B. Mason; for County Jailor—James M. Greer, Charles B. James, Will S. McCormick, D. D. Salyer, Wm. F. Stewart; for Police Judge—Ben R. Turner, R. F. Mastin, C. W. Nesbitt; for City Councilmen—J. C. Shoemaker, Thos. H. Turley, J. C. McNeal, Gny Sandefur, Joe P. Sullivan, Allen G. Prewitt, Clarence William, C. H. Petry, A. E. Lawrence, Henry Maher and Harrison Kimbrell; for City Clerk—Mrs. Mary Coleman Ayres, Miss Florence McNamara.

It will be noted that in a number of the races the aspirants have no opposition and there appears to be little interest shown considering the election is so near at hand, but it is thought from now on there will be a fight on to the last ditch in the races where the candidates have opposition.

Dies in Cleveland

Leo Brown, son of James Brown, deceased, of Sharpsburg, died at his home in Cleveland, Ohio, on the 8th of July. Mr. Brown was 41 years old. He is survived by his mother and Miss Elizabeth Brown, of Sharpsburg, and Mrs. Lester Jones, of New York City.

Remains reached here Saturday, were met by Mrs. C. W. Peters, John and Taylor Crockett, Rufus Knight and wife, Mrs. William and Miss Virginia Tharp and conveyed to Sharpsburg, where after a funeral service the remains were buried in Crown Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Brown was an excellent citizen and his loss will be keenly felt.

NOTICE

I wish to correct the report that I have moved to Lexington. Such is not the case, and I may be found at my home on Howard avenue when my services as nurse are required. MISS ANNA McMAHAN.

Mt. Sterling Defeats Morehead Nine

The Mt. Sterling Baseball team was victorious Sunday over the fast nine from Morehead by the score of 6 to 3. The game was one of the fastest and cleanest played on the local lot this year, not a score being made until the fifth inning when Mt. Sterling forced one across on a wild throw. In the sixth inning Morehead scored all three of their tallies on clean hits. Mt. Sterling sewed the game up in the eighth inning when the Morehead boys went up in the air, allowing the locals to score 5 runs. The "Mountaineers" protested vigorously against the decisions of the umpire, several of their "kicks" being apparently justified. With the exception of the fatal eighth the Morehead boys played a fast article of ball and the pitching of their tall lanky hurler, termed, "Jib Bob" was a decided feature of the game. The Mt. Sterling boys played the best game of the year, not being credited with a single error. The playing of Pergram at short was especially brilliant.

Infant Dies

Robert Louis, one-year-old son of Perley Cairns and wife, died on Saturday from an attack of chronic diarrhea. The mother was Miss Rebecca Calk, daughter of Price Calk and wife. They were here on a visit to her parents, when the child became sick and died. After funeral services at Pineville Sunday the child was buried in the cemetery there.

The remains were accompanied from here by the father, mother, two sisters and Mrs. C. M. Perkins and S. J. Calk.

This, another flower just in the bud, has been plucked from the earth garden to be transplanted in the garden where Jesus is. It was he who said "suffer the little ones to come unto me." The little one will be missed here, but how comforting it is that he is spared the anxieties, the troubles and sorrows that would have fallen to him had he been permitted to have lived to a ripe old age. The child is not dead, it is just asleep to awaken in the arms of Him who declared unless you become as one of these little children you cannot inherit the kingdom.

Aids to Grace and Beauty

PRISCILLA DEAN
"Keeping Cool"

As an aid to beauty the quality of keeping crisp and cool looking even on muggy days cannot be denied. There is no doubt that admiration will go to the well groomed girl every time, even if her features are not perfect, and that he will pass by her more beautiful sister if she is rumpled and hot looking.

The ability to keep cool physically as well as mentally is largely a matter of habit and consists in knowing how to take care of yourself.

The woman who dresses unsuitably and does not take the time to make herself comfortable is the one who complains and not only looks miserable, but makes all those around her uncomfortable by her hot and wretched appearance.

It is, I hope, superfluous to advise you to wear as few clothes as possible in warm weather. Half the women who complain so bitterly of the warm days, have on uncomfortable underwear, the other half do not know what foot comfort is.

Fresh underwear every day is not only necessary for neatness, but for comfort as well. This need not be of the expensive crepe de chine variety, but may be of cotton crepe, which needs no ironing and can be rinsed out in a very few minutes. There are any number of pretty pale shades in this material either plain or with tiny flowered effects, and they are not only practical, but they are charming. There is no excuse for ugly lingerie.

The envelope chemise is perhaps the easiest way for the business girl to make her underwear. Or the newer style of a short chemise and envelope drawers. If you can afford it these come in silk jersey and are extremely cool and serviceable.

I need not add that fresh stockings are absolutely necessary to foot comfort. If you will wash out the pair you take off every night before going to bed, it will not take much time and you will never be without clean stockings.

Heavy shoes are to be tabooed during dog days. No matter what the common sense folk may say about their desirability the calf common sense shoes tire the feet and make them perspire unduly. A light-weight suede or a white canvas or kid will provide all the weight I want to carry on my pedal extremities I can assure you, and my feet never get tired.

Chief of all the recipes is the hot daily bath. Cold baths only make you warmer, a hot bath will keep you cool for hours afterwards and then if you dust yourself off with talcum and slip into a fresh set of underthings you will find the torments of the weather much lessened for you.

Excessive perspiration should be checked during hot weather. I always use a liquid to keep me from perspiring under the arms and this renders the wearing of shields unnecessary and prevents all the unpleasantness arising from stale perspiration on my dresses. I also shave under the arms, which also prevents perspiration for if there is no hair under the arms you are certainly much cooler and there is no irritation.

I have no excuse for the girl or woman who emits an odor of perspiration, nothing is more sickening, and I would not allow anyone like that around me. I really don't see how men can stand them in offices, and I have known many a girl to lose her friends and admirers in this way. Talcum is cheap, razor blades are not expensive and there are several preparations on the market, both cheap and harmless, which will check perspiration where it is undesirable.

The hair should be washed oftener in summer than winter. So many Indigestion

Many persons, otherwise vigorous and healthy, are bothered occasionally with indigestion. The effects of a disordered stomach on the system are dangerous, and prompt treatment of indigestion is important. "The only medicine I have needed has been something to aid digestion and clean the liver," writes Mr. Fred Ashby, a McKinney, Texas, farmer. "My medicine is for indigestion and stomach trouble of any kind. I have never found anything that touches the spot, like Black-Draught. I take it in broken doses after meals. For a long time I tried pills, which gripped and didn't give the good results. Black-Draught liver medicine is easy to take, easy to keep, inexpensive."

women do not realize this. The pores of the head, like the others of the body, give out perspiration more freely and the dust which flies in the summer and a greasy condition of the scalp are both very injurious to the hair. Perspiration and salt water combined have been known to rot more beautiful hair than any other cause I could name. The girl who is active and athletic and who exercises a great deal during warm weather, does not commit an error by washing her hair once a week.

As regards the complexion, do not use greasy creams even at night, if your skin has a tendency to shine. Of course the surplus oiliness which has not been washed off will come out on the surface and give the face a perpetual gloss.

Last and not least, wear thin dresses. Do not parade around in satin on dog days. A thin inexpensive mull well laundered and well pressed, will look better every time. If you wish to reduce the cost of laundry, there are dotted muslins in dark shades, which are not only extremely smart this season, but very serviceable as well.

Enormous Profits are Made in Cigarettes

"During the year 1920-21, manufacturers of cigarettes are making the greatest profits in the history of the industry."

The Wall Street Journal, probably the most authoritative financial journal in the country, makes this statement on the basis of figures compiled by experts, and by the manufacturers themselves. Such a pronouncement should be of great interest to the tobacco growers, since the prices paid to the farmers of Kentucky during this period, were much lower than the prices during several previous years. In fact, this decrease in the price paid to the farmer is offered as one of the two principal reasons for the enormous profits made by the manufacturers.

In 1920, Kentucky produced 467,500,000 pounds of tobacco. According to Wall Street figures the average price for the 1920 crop was 23.2 cents less than the price of the 1919 crop. This reduced price meant increased profits of more than $107,000,000 to the manufacturers. A certain part of this decline is held by some persons to be due to the 1920 crop being of inferior quality. Expert tobacco men at Lexington and the Bluegrass say, however, that the 1920 crop was a very useful one for smoking tobacco brands.

But granting that the 1920 crop of tobacco was not of the most valuable quality, this factor would be counteracted by the lower labor costs in manufacturing, as the cost of living declined.

"It was estimated last year that 70 per cent of production costs went for leaf. With prices for leaf cut in half compared with those for the 1919 crop, the enormous saving to the cigarette manufacturer is obvious."

Add to these considerations the fact that the price of cigarettes in which Burley tobacco is used has not been reduced, and it becomes apparent that the greater part of the money represented by the reduced price paid growers for tobacco must have gone to the manufacturer as profits. To swell these figures still further, a great increase in the use of cigarettes is indicated by figures for the first four months of this year.

"A production of 49,000,000,000 cigarettes (estimated total for 1921) would mean an increase in profits (to the manufacturer) of $24,500,000," says the Wall Street Journal. "As a result of lower leaf prices, cigarette manufacturers are making unprecedented profits. It is officially estimated that one of the big manufacturers purchased its 1920 supply of tobacco at something like $20,000,000 less than its cost in 1919. The increased demand for cigarettes makes unlikely a reduction in cigarette prices for the time being."

These statements are not made by the Wall Street Journal nor quoted by this newspaper to prove that the manufacturers are treating either the grower or the public unfairly. Plainly, the manufacturers are only following principles found to be sound in any business. They buy the raw product at the lowest price that will insure a continued supply, and sell the finished product at the highest price that will insure a continued demand.

But something evidently is wrong when the the producer loses, or at least does not make money, when the public demand is greater and when the manufacturer makes unparalleled profits.

What is wrong then, and what is the remedy?

The chief offender, we believe, is the present system of marketing tobacco. The remedy is the system of Co-operative Marketing of tobacco, which is being put before the Kentucky growers at this time.

Under the present system all the Kentucky tobacco crop is dumped on the market usually in a period of less than three months. Since the money needed to move the tobacco crop from the producer to the factory runs into hundreds of millions of dollars, it is evident that such sudden demands cannot readily be met by even the largest companies. Banks are slow to lend money excepting on the best security. The manufacturers must pay high interest rates to get the use of such enormous sums for this period. Doubtless it is in part to absorb this high rate of interest that the price of tobacco leaf is cut whenever the manufacturers think it possible to do so.

This dumping process, which is highly expensive, both to grower and to buyer, would be avoided if the proposed co-operative marketing association is adopted in the burley-producing territory. The selling season would extend over a greater part of the year. The manufacturers could buy and pay for the tobacco gradually, as their financial conditions justified. It would be easy for them to establish their credit.

As a result, the manufacturers would not be forced to borrow at high rates of interest, nor to cut the price of tobacco to absorb this rate. At the same time, the growers, through the directors of the association, would be in a position to deal directly with the manufacturers, without the medium of a large and costly corps of buyers hired at the expense of the manufacturers, and passed on by them to the growers.

These two factors would combine to enable the manufacturer to operate on a smaller margin of gross profit, with the same amount of net profit. By elimination of wasteful methods, and the substitution of scientific grading, both grower and manufacturer would profit, without increasing the price of manufactured tobacco to the consumer.

These are the logical conclusions of the situation pointed out by the Wall Street Journal.

Numerous other reasons could be advanced showing the necessity for the Co-operative Tobacco Marketing Association. The plan is sound economically, and it is sound financially. Co-operative Marketing of Burley tobacco will mean millions of dollars in the pockets of tobacco growers each year. Every grower should sign the contract.

Slackers of Peace

That American citizens qualified to vote who do not register and vote are slackers and should be treated as such, is the theme of a letter recently sent to a New York newspaper. It seems to us that this contributor, who signs himself Wilbur Wakeman, has hold of a very good idea. He suggests several remedies to force citizens to vote; fines, for instance, and the imposition of jury duty upon those who have not fulfilled their duties at the polls. But more powerful still is the force of public opinion and in merely hitting on the term slacker for the men and women who do not vote this man has found a more effective remedy than any he prescribes.

The person who can vote, but doesn't take enough interest in his country to do so is a slacker—just as much a slacker as the man who tried to escape service in the war. At all times our nation needs our service. In his recent book, "Modern Democracies," Viscount Bryce writes: "No government demands so much from the citizen as democracy and none gives so much back." The first thing that is demanded of us is the easy service of voting. The person who fails to perform that is not likely to do much else for the country. He is a slacker and should be looked upon with the same contempt that we give to the tribe in wartime—Ohio State Journal.

WHAT'S THE ANSWER?

A Kansas cyclone destroyed everything a farmer owned except his cows and cream separator. He never missed his regular bank deposit.

A western Tennessee farmer left his cotton standing in the field. It wasn't worth picking. His few cows that fed on the roadside and waste land were the "anchor to windward." Farmer, merchant and banker "waxed fat."

A Kentucky farmer didn't harvest his tobacco crop. He found there were two kinds of suckers in a tobacco patch. One grew on the plant and the other picked them off.

He bought up the reserves—a half dozen cows.

Did he continue buying shoes, clothing and provisions?

HE DID!

Did the merchant and banker suffer?

They did—NOT.

It was a land of milk and honey. What IS the answer? Think it over.

How sixty-four Diamonds behaved for a well-known Virginia Utility Co.

"We have used the Diamond Tires and, after a thorough test, we believe that this tire is the best for our service. Our trucks cover more territory than any other trucks on the peninsula. For your information, I might advise that these trucks, sixteen in number, take care of the territory from Fox Hill to Camp Morrison. They are operated in all kinds and conditions of weather and, all in all, I believe the Diamond Tire is the best for our service."

Harm is Seen in Too Many Laws

Changes in the method of procedure in advocating law reform were recommended by the Law Reform Committee of the Kentucky Bar Association before the association, which convened in Ashland last week.

A plea for the right of the people generally to enjoy in a decent way pleasures that appeal to them, and the declaration that attempts of certain persons to assume to lead and regulate law-making bodies, is doing more harm than good to the people were made in an address by Judge John D. Carroll, former Chief Justice of the Kentucky Court of Appeals, and editor of the Kentucky Statutes.

"The word liberty," Judge Carroll said, "means in a general way freedom of speech and action within lawful limits and covers every activity of life."

"While there have been great outbreaks of lawlessness, the majority of the people of the state believe that every citizen has a right to live in peace and pursue his lawful occupation."

"There are, however, so many Federal, State and city laws that the citizen often does not know which way to turn for fear of violating one of them."

"I should say their only safety lay in the fact that many of these silly laws fall into disrespect and are more respected in the breach than in the observance."

Referring to the attempts to reform, Judge Carroll said:

"There has come up in the states as well as the nation in recent years, a disposition to regulate everybody and everything by one kind of law or another, and as a result we are suffering at this time from an epidemic of regulation."

"Where this habit originated or why it has become popular with so many of our citizens, who assume to lead and direct law-making bodies, I am not prepared to say. I do know, however, it is doing more harm than good."

Judge Carroll said he would not class "regulators" as reformers because the "regulators" make up their minds that "everything they do is exactly right and everything they do not do is exactly wrong."

"Having reached this satisfactory (to themselves) conclusion," the Judge said, "their next step is to inaugurate some plan or method by which amusements, sports and entertainments obnoxious to themselves may be forbidden."

A long "record of unrewarded work" is the reason the association is asked to make the changes in the matter of law reform procedure, it is set forth in the Law Reform Committee's report, which was read by Simeon S. Willis, Ashland, chairman.

It is suggested that not more than five proposed changes in existing laws be brought before the convention of the association each year for recommendation or rejection. If recommended, the report says, the proposed reforms should be supported by the entire association.

WORDS OF WARNING

We want to be helpful not to just a part, but to all of our people. If there are opportunities that lead to the profit in any way we try to be first to advise our people. Should there be danger lines we are first to sound the alarm. We have now words of warning. We are advised and we pass the words on that someone has passed over the road now being constructed between here and the Bourbon county line, on the Paris route with a tractor engine, causing at least $1,000 damage to the road, and which will have to be worked over. Any person doing damage to a public highway or any other public property is subject to arrest, and a fine in a considerable sum. The commissioners have warned the public by notice and should this legal notice be again violated those violating may expect to be arrested and fined to the law's limit. The Commissioners are determined to protect the county's interest, and we therefore warn our friends to keep off the newly made road with destructive vehicles or devices.

ARE YOU READY?

If not, then get ready, to attend the Montgomery County Fair. Attend the Fair because you want to. Want to attend the Fair because it is yours and you are interested in its success. You should want to attend the Fair because your friends are also interested, will be there and it will be a good place to meet them and excellent time for hand shaking. You should want to attend the Fair because of the Floral Hall exhibitions. You should want to attend the Fair that you may see the fine stock exhibitions. You should want to attend the Fair in order to witness the trotting and running races. You should want to attend the Fair because of the hotly contested racing. You should want to be there because everybody that can will be there with a spirit of pride for the success of the Montgomery County Fair that begins on Wednesday, the 20th, and continues four days.

Big Tobacco Purchase Made by Local Firm

The Lexington Leader of Sunday says:

"One of the biggest tobacco deals made in the Burley district of Kentucky since the close of the loose leaf market in May has just been consummated by Geary & Buckley, of Lexington, who announced Saturday that they have sold to the Venable Tobacco Company, of North Carolina, which has a factory and redryer also at Mt. Sterling, Ky., 457,810 pounds of common smoking tobacco at 12 1/2 cents a pound."

It is understood that Geary & Buckley made a large profit on the weed, which was bought over the floors last winter at a reported price of 31-2 cents. It is said the tobacco yield in the burley belt will be short this year, fully 40 to 50 per cent. and it is expected that the 1921 crop will bring much better prices than anticipated by the growers. Low grades have made material advances since the close of the loose leaf market and those that bought these grades are now in a position to make a handsome profit off of their investment. Prospects look exceedingly bright for those so fortunate as to have a good crop of tobacco this season, while the lower grades will doubtless rule much higher than last season.

Mary Miles Minter to Wed Ex-Paris Man

Perhaps no screen star of the present era has a larger list of admirers than Mary Miles Minter, known wherever motion pictures are shown as "the Darling of the Screen," but it remained for a son of a former Paris, Ky., man to win her heart and hand.

The announcement of their engagement has recently been made through a letter received recently in Paris. The lucky young man is Orville Erringer, of Portland, Ore., son of Clarence Erringer, of Chicago, and grandson of Theodore Erringer, for many years agent in Paris of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company, and manager of the Paris branch of the Western Union Telegraph Company. The groom-to-be is the northwestern manager for a large fruit packing corporation of California. His headquarters are in Portland. His father is general traveling agent for an automobile concern in Chicago, and is now on a trip through Canada to British Columbia. It was during a recent visit to her prospective father-in-law and his mother in Chicago that the engagement of Miss Minter to Mr. Erringer was announced.

On July 4th, Miss Minter left New York on board the steamer Olympia for a two months' trip through Europe, during which she will visit Belgium, England, France, Italy and Spain. Shortly after her return the wedding will take place, probably at her home in Southern California. It is said that Mr. Erringer and his bride will devote a portion of their honeymoon to a trip through the Bluegrass, which will include a visit to Paris, the place of his father's birth and early manhood, of which the young woman has heard so much, but which she has never visited.

Young Erringer is said to have first met his bride-to-be on a business trip to Hollywood, Cal., where

Terse Thoughts for Better Business

Don't spend a few dollars on advertising and then say, "Advertising don't pay."

Advertising does pay.

The right kind of newspaper advertising pays best of all.

Advertising is the artillery of business—long range selling.

Never misrepresent your goods.

Make your advertising your "Store News."

Every up-to-date store has "news" for the public.

Put your personlity into your ads.

Use simple words and short sentences.

Use plain type.

Avoid fancy designs.

Attract attention by doing something new.—Team-Work.

THE NEW VERSION

Under the spreading chestnut tree, a stubborn auto stands, and Smith, an angry man is he, with trouble on his hands. He cusses softly to himself and crawls beneath the car, and wonders why it didn't bust before he got so far. The carburetor seems to be the cause of all his woe. He tightens half a dozen bolts, but still it doesn't go. And then he tries the steering gear, but finds no trouble there, until wet with perspiration, then he quits in sheer despair. He squats behind the road to give his brain a chance to cool, and ponders on his training in a correspondence school, and then he starts the job once more, until by chance he's seen the cause of all his trouble—he's out of gasoline.

right to the store that has IT.

In this way she saves time, money and effort and comes home fresh as a daisy and ready to get friend husband a good dinner instead of taking him to the cafeteria.

How Big is a House?

The lecturer was describing and advocating modern, humane and intelligent methods of dealing with young children. As he paused for an instant, a grim-faced woman rose up. "Will you answer me one plain question?" she challenged him. "This shilly-shallying with children is all right at times, but there are times when nothing but a good spanking will do. What do you do when a child stamps his foot and says, 'I won't do it!'"

The lecturer waited. The questioner added nothing to her question.

"Do you call that a plain question?" he asked in an incredulous tone, as though he could not believe his ears.

"I certainly do," she said with satisfaction.

"Well, madame," said the lecturer, "I will answer that plain question if you will answer one of mine. How big is a house?"

The woman stared. "That's not a plain question. What sort of a house?"

"Alas!" said the lecturer "You can't answer me till I have told you what sort of a house? Well, I can't answer you till you tell me what sort of a child."

"I don't see what that's got to do with it," said the woman, but somewhat taken back.

"Well, here's a case. A little child of three, very nervous, sensitive, recently over an illness, has been on a long, hot railway journey. At the end, exhausted from lack of sleep, excited to the point of distraction by the noise, and a thousand fears he cannot explain, with a beginning of stomach trouble from the irregular meals, he is told by someone who does not understand little children to carry a satchel much too heavy for him. Perhaps you would expect a three-year-old to say, but I'm not feeling very well and it is really beyond my strength. But I don't blame him a bit for stamping his foot and screaming. And certainly he does not deserve the same treatment as a loutish boy of fourteen who refuses to obey a reasonable request. And yet you expect some answer that will be the same for both those cases."

Every child is different from another child, and only his mother is in a position to know how to take him. All sets of circumstances are different from all others and only those who know all about the case have any chance of guessing what is the right thing to do. You must do that most difficult of all things, think, and think hard, before you know what is the right thing to do. Put before you begin to think, just remember that if a child stamps his foot and says, "I won't" to you, it is because you have brought him up wrong. When you see a dog that habitually snarls and shows his teeth, you do not say, "what a disagreeable nature that dog has." You say, "Heavens! what a brutal master the poor creature must have had."

Nobody loves a reformer any more than they do a rattlesnake and it's a wonder the reformers don't realize it.

1,000 Bushels on New Wheat Seed Requested

That Ashland, the new pedigreed variety of wheat developed by the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station will be popular with farmers when the wheat-sowing season arrives is shown by the fact that requests have already been received by the agronomy department of the station from various farmers of the state for more than 1,000 bushels of seed from this variety. Only 100 bushels will be available for distribution from the station, members of the department said, but farmers who wish to sow this variety during the coming fall are being referred to the 25 farmers who have just harvested all the Ashland wheat grown in the state during the past year. Ashland wheat grown by these farmers was inspected while still in the field and found to be free from noxious weeds or bad mixtures with other varieties of wheat. During the six years that it has been grown at the Experiment Station Ashland has exceeded all other popular varieties of wheat (grown in Kentucky in the yields produced.

Autoists Destroy A Pole a Day

In this section of the state the telephone company loses an average of a pole a day, due to automobile and other accidents.

Worse still the destruction of a telephone pole usually means a serious interruption to service.

When there is a cable or a cable box on the pole, the damage is likely to put 200 or more telephones out of order for a day or more.

Substantial as they are the poles cannot withstand the compact of an automobile driven at high speed.

We cannot control the reckless driving, but we can ask you to bear this in mind when your service is interrupted by an occurrence of this kind.

REPORT OF STATE COMMISSION

Governor Heartily Commends Recommendations Made
After Months of Study

State Educational Commission sitting in the office of Mr. Alexander G. Barret, its Secretary.

The Preliminary Report of the Commission With Governor's Approval Across the Bottom Is Given Below

Gov. Edwin P. Morrow,
Governor of Kentucky,
Frankfort, Kentucky.

Sir:—

The Commission appointed by you pursuant to the Act approved March 22, 1920 to make a survey of the public educational system of the State and to "report its findings with recommendations for improvement" to the Governor, has completed its field work and is now engaged in preparing its report which will be in your hands prior to the meeting of the next Legislature. We have already proceeded far enough to call your attention to one feature of our system, the improvement of which is fundamental to the future development of our schools.

The upbuilding of a sound system of public schools which will give our children educational opportunities worthy of the state and which will give country boys and girls as good educational opportunities as are enjoyed by city boys and girls depends at bottom on efficiency and continuity of administration. The cities are more or less independent. They choose their superintendents of schools on the basis of competence. The care and direction of the country schools is in the hands of the County Superintendents and the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. The County Superintendents are now for the first time chosen by the County Boards of Education, — a great step in advance. The State Superintendent alone remains a political officer. The interest of our schools demands that the office of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction shall cease to be a political office and that our schools cease to be administered on political lines. The State Superintendent should be an educator whose qualifications and term should be fixed by the Legislature or by a Board of Education created by the Legislature.

At the general election, next November, there will be submitted to the voters of the State two constitutional amendments, one taking the office of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction out of the list of elected state officers, the other freeing a part of the public school funds to equalize educational opportunities and to encourage needed improvements. Unless these two amendments are adopted our hands are tied and educational progress in Kentucky is doomed to be exceedingly slow.

To recommend through you to the people of the State that the active help of every person and every organization, educational, agricultural, commercial and industrial, be given to the passing of these two constitutional amendments so decisively that the whole state will realize that we have started upon a program that will give both city and country boys and girls educational opportunities as good as those provided by any State in the Union.

Very respectfully,

KENTUCKY EDUCATIONAL COMMISSION

Yield at Rate of 630 Bushels Per Acre

Whitehall, Ky.—Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Whitman harvested five bushels and 10 quarts of strawberries off a patch 12x30 feet, or at the rate of 630 bushels per acre. The bed is three years old. Wonderful care was given it; not a weed was allowed to grow, and it was kept carefully watered and at night when frost threatened, all the bed clothes in the house were requisitioned and the entire bed covered. The Whitmans sat up all night, having no bed clothes to use.

Farm and Home News From Over Kentucky

Giles Gore, a Taylor county farmer, will conduct an alfalfa demonstration in co-operation with County Agent J. L. Miller, which is expected to bring out some important points in connection with the production of the crop in that section. The alfalfa will be sown on subsoiled land in an effort to determine if this type of soil is best suited for the crop in that section.

Thirty-three Fulton county farmers have become charter members of a co-operative shipping association recently organized there with the help of County Agent O. L. Cunningham.

Farmers of Breathitt county are showing an increased interest in purebred livestock, according to County Agent L. F. Morgan, who reports that six purebred Duroc Jersey hogs were recently distributed to four farmers of the county.

Farmers in the Meadow Creek community, Taylor County, are planning to raise purebred Duroc Jersey hogs, according to a report of County Agent J. L. Miller. George Griffin has purchased a purebred sire which will be used by several farmers in the community who already have purchased sows.

Feeding a balanced ration to his pigs following the recommendation of County Agent T. H. Jones, proved profitable for James A. Hieronymous, a junior agricultural club member in Lee county. His pigs gained 50 pounds in 27 days and now weigh around 100 pounds.

Demonstrations on soil improvement and alfalfa growing will be conducted by several Hopkins county farmers during the coming fall, according to a report of County Agent M. M. Gordon. Dick Solomon will carry on a demonstration with alfalfa in an effort to determine the best method of growing the crop in that section. John Powell will carry on a number of soil improvement demonstrations which are expected to be of special value to farmers of that county.

COULD BEAT HANDS SHUCKING HIS CORN

At Least J. A. White Would Bet
So, After Being Relieved of Dyspepsia by Tanlac

"My wife and myself have had stomach trouble," says Mr. J. A. White, residing on the Leestown pike, R. F. D. No. 6, near Lexington, Ky., "and have both been nervous and run down."

"We could not do anything without suffering afterwards and could not sleep at night. We were regular nervous dyspeptics. We tried many remedies without permanent benefit until we heard of Tanlac. I got this medicine and began using it. We noticed immediate results. We are both greatly improved by Tanlac. We give all credit for the change of health to Tanlac. It is a remarkable medicine."

"I personally feel so good that I told my hands a day or two ago that I could beat any of them shucking corn. I meant it and believe I could have beat 'em all."

Of all the maladies that afflict humanity chronic dyspepsia, such as Mr. and Mrs. White suffered from, is probably the most prevalent and hours might be consumed in describing the sufferings, mental and bodily, of the victims of chronic dyspepsia.

A morbid, unreal, whimsical and melancholy condition of the mind, aside from the nervous physical suffering, is the usual state of the average dyspeptic and life seems scarcely worth the living.

Tanlac, the celebrated medicine, was designed especially for overcoming this distressing condition and millions of people have taken it with the most astonishing and gratifying results. It seems to go straight to the spot, toning up and invigorating every organ of the body.

Mary had a little shoe,
The heels were high and slender,
And everywhere that Mary walked

Skeleton Unearthed

While a force of hands were excavating on the lot of the McCormick Lumber yards, south of the C. & O. tracks, a skeleton of a human being was discovered at a depth of less than 12 inches below the surface. The condition of the bones gave evidence that they had been there for many years. When exposed to the air they crumbled and the teeth were so worn as to show the skeleton was that of an aged person.

An expert suggests that criminals can be cured by means of a color scheme. People who have committed a violent crime which they have been contemplating for many years, he says, should be placed in a cell colored yellow or orange, as these colors stimulate the brain and tend to drive away morbidity. If the crime has been done on the spur of the moment blue or bluish-green should be used for they are soothing colors.

Twelve Tie in Big Prize Race Today

Down the Home Stretch They Come Neck-and-Neck in Great Struggle For Leading Position

As the Advocate's big prize race enters the home stretch the struggle for first position grows more exciting each day. Interest in the big campaign is intense and thousands of people throughout this section are watching the standings of their favorites to see what their chances will be for the big prizes. Votes by the thousands continue to pour into the campaign department and contestants who were far down on the list are rapidly forging to the front.

So close is the big race for glory and prizes that twelve candidates tie for leading position today. This is very unusual in a campaign of this kind, for it is seldom that so many candidates reach the limit allowed. To break this tie we are going to make another count tomorrow and post the result in the window of The Advocate office. What candidate do you think will hold the leading position in the count tomorrow? Contestants and their friends may learn the result of this count by calling the Campaign Manager by telephone tomorrow or by watching the bulletin in the window.

Now we are going to raise the limit several thousand votes and see which candidates are strong enough to gain leading positions. Until further notice, contestants will be allowed to poll a sufficient number of votes to place their standing 50,000 votes in advance of the leader of the preceding issue. Hence, this will make the limit 225,980 in Thursday's issue. Who will be the candidates to gain a leading position Thursday? Don't forget the big second period vote offer closes at 6 o'clock next Thursday night, July 14th. Send in all subscriptions possible before that date and hour.

Harding Issues

Disarmament Call

President Harding has made an armament reduction proposal to the Great Powers so broad in its scope that it constitutes a move toward a new ordering of world affairs.

The State Department has announced that the President has proposed to Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan a conference in Washington not only on the "limitation of armament," but on a settlement of the Pacific and Far Eastern problems.

If the proposal is accepted Washington will be the scene of a world congress rivaling in importance that of Paris in 1919.

The conference, as proposed by the President, would consider not only a settlement of the issues which might precipitate war between the United States and Japan, but a reshaping of the policies and relations of all the nations bordering on the Pacific Ocean, on which Mr. Harding deems a permanent reduction of armament largely depends.

Out of the conference, if held, may come a new international understanding on affairs in the Pacific and Far East, which will obviate any necessity of a renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, a question now embarrassing the British government.

So prominent is this possibility that the question is raised whether the British government has not already approved, if it did not originate, the suggestion that the Far Eastern and Pacific problems be considered by the conference on reduction of armament.

China has been invited to participate in the discussion of the Far Eastern question, which involves the whole program of Japanese aggrandizement on the Asiatic mainland.

Out of the conference also may come President Harding's plan for an association of nations to preserve world peace and promote the pacific adjudication of international disputes.

Altogether the step taken by the President is not only the most important since he assumed office, but one of the most important moves in the realm of foreign relations in the history of the republic.
